

Indian Health Service's TeleBehavioral Health Center for Excellence and the University of New Mexico's Center for Rural and Community Behavioral Health are pleased to announce a

Pain and Addiction Course Beginning February 25th.

Presented by Snehal Bhatt, MD and Joanna Katzman, MD, MSPH

This 15-session course will address:

- Pain Management within a primary care setting.
- Risk Management with pain patients.
- Assessing aberrant behavior in pain patients.
- Diagnosing and managing Opioid Addiction within a primary care setting.
- Practical assessment and intervention

Sessions will occur on weekly on Mondays, and begin at:

Eastern	Central	Mountain	Pacific	Alaska
1 pm	12 pm	11 am	10 am	9 am

Biographies

Snehal Bhatt, MD

Associate Professor
Medical Director, Addictions and Substance Abuse Programs
Attending Addictions Psychiatrist, ASAP and Truman Street Clinic

Education

Fellowship: Addiction Psychiatry, University of New Mexico School of Medicine, Albuquerque, NM
Residency: Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, New Brunswick, New Jersey
M.D.: Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, New Brunswick, New Jersey

Areas of Special Interest

Barriers to alcoholism treatment to Native American populations; improving access to addictions treatment in communities across New Mexico; novel pharmacological treatments for addictive illnesses; resident and medical student education

Joanna Katzman, MD, MSPH

Associate Professor, Department of Neurosurgery and College of Nursing
Director of the UNM Pain Center: University of New Mexico Pain Consultation and Treatment Center and Project ECHO Chronic Pain and Headache Clinic
Deputy, Chief Medical Officer, Ambulatory Services and Clinical Integration

Education

University of California Los Angeles School of Public Health, MSPH
Yale University School of Medicine, MD
Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, Medical Internship
University of California School of Medicine, Neurology Residency
University of California School of Medicine, Fellowship in Neuro-Rehabilitation

National Association of Public Hospitals- Fellowship in Clinical Integration

Clinical Focus

Headaches (diagnosis, management of all headache syndromes), Botulinum (Botox) treatment for Chronic Migraine, Fibromyalgia Syndrome, Spasticity and other pain issues related to stroke, traumatic brain injury, spinal cord injury, Multiple Sclerosis and other neurological disorders

Cost

- No Cost
- No Required Textbooks
- No Travel Required
- Telecommute to Sessions

Benefits

- Learn the state of the art in pain and addiction treatment.
- 20+ hours of pain CME.
- Certificate completion indicating new skills.
- Increased confidence and competence treating pain & addiction.
- Better meet patient and clinic needs.
- Establish a network of colleagues and consultants.

More Information

Contact:

Alaina George
TeleBehavioral Health Center for Excellence
Tele-Education Coordinator

Phone: (505) 248-4531

Email: alaina.george@ihs.gov