

FEMA hosts a Tribal Training Week

The Center for Domestic Preparedness within the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will be hosting an all Tribal Nation/Alaskan Native Training Week the week of March 20-26.

The week's worth of free trainings and events are being offered at the Center for Domestic Preparedness in Anniston, Alabama. Below is more information about the Tribal training week. Registration opened up one month ago, and unfortunately the Incident Command and Hospital Emergency Response Training courses are full. However, all of the others have availability at this time.

You can read more information about each of the courses being offered by visiting the Center's website with the below links:
